

I am extremely worried about the potential for interference BPL may have on amateur radio frequencies. As someone who lived through and volunteered as an HF radio operator after hurricane Andrew hit Florida 12 years ago, I cannot imagine how much more difficult communications would have been had there been BPL interference then. I fear that deployment of BPL will have an extremely negative effect on amateur radio in general leading to many many fewer qualified operators available in case of another emergency.

Thank you,
